COMES NOW the plaintiff, UNITED STATES OF AMERICA, by and through its counsel, Karen P. Hewitt, United States Attorney, and Aaron B. Clark, Assistant U.S. Attorney, and hereby files its Response to Defendant's Motions in Limine in the above-captioned case. Said Response is based upon the files and records of this case together with the attached statement of facts and memorandum of points and authorities.

I

STATEMENT OF FACTS

The Government hereby incorporates by reference the Statement of Facts included in its motions in limine filed on August 18, 2008.

III

DEFENDANT'S MOTIONS IN LIMINE

A. Preclude Evidence Under 404(b)

As described in the Government's motions in limine, the Government will introduce evidence under Federal Rule of Evidence 404(b) regarding Defendant's prior crossings in the load vehicle, specifically those prior trips that Defendant admitted to in her post-Miranda statement. These crossings began the month prior to Defendant's apprehension. The Government provided notice of its intent to introduce this evidence in a letter dated August 15, 2008 and, on the same date, produced TECS information regarding those crossings, as well as a supplemental report of an interview with Antonia Franco-Nunez regarding statements Defendant made in connection with those prior crossings. Defendant's motion is therefore moot.

B. Grant Attorney Conducted Voir Dire

The Government defers to the Court's usual practice on this issue.

C. Exclude 403 Evidence

The Government does not intend to introduce into evidence any post-arrest photos of Defendant. Additionally, the Government does not intend to introduce evidence of Defendant's demeanor, including any nervousness, during the stop of her vehicle. Hence, the Court should deny the motion as moot. In any event, the motion fails on the merits.

Evidence regarding a defendant's demeanor and physical appearance is admissible as circumstantial evidence that is relevant to the jury's determination as to whether a defendant knew contraband was concealed in the vehicle. See, e.g., United States v. Romero-Avila, 210 F.3d 1017, 1023 (9th Cir. 2000) (identifying defendant's nervousness at the border as part of the "strong independent evidence of defendant's guilt"); United States v. Hursh, 217 F3d. 761, 767-68 (9th Cir. 2000) (nervousness during border questioning at primary inspection and later nervousness while car was being inspected at secondary was additional evidence of knowledge); United States v. Klimavicius-Viloria, 144 F. 3d 1249, 1263-65 (9th Cir. 1998) (crew's demeanor, such as becoming less cooperative when the Coast Guard decided to search a tank where bales of cocaine were later found, was relevant to show knowing participation); United States v. Fuentes-Cariaga, 209 F.3d 1140, 1144 (9th Cir. 2000) (it is within the ordinary province of jurors to draw inferences from facts such as a defendant's nervousness at Calexico port of entry); United States v. Barbosa, 906 F.2d 1366, 1368 (9th Cir. 1990) (jury could infer guilty knowledge from a defendant's apparent nervousness and anxiety during airport inspection); United States v. Lui, 941 F.2d 844, 848 n.2 (9th Cir. 1991) (jury could consider guilty knowledge from a defendant's acting disinterested during airport inspection); United States v. Walitwarangkul, 808 F.2d 1352, 1354 (9th Cir. 1987) (affirming conviction for possession of narcotics with intent to distribute where, inter alia, defendant "appeared nervous when questioned by customs").

D. Preclude Expert Testimony

The Government here incorporates by reference its own motion in limine with respect to this issue.

E. Exclude Testimony Regarding the Value of the Narcotics and Structure Evidence

The Government here incorporates by reference its own motion in limine regarding the relevance and admissibility of the drug value expert in this case.

IV

CONCLUSION

For the foregoing reasons, Defendant's motions, except where unopposed, should be denied.

DATED: August 20, 2008.

Respectfully submitted,
KAREN P. HEWITT
United States Attorney

s/ Aaron B. Clark
